FORL 2620
War & Memory in France
Global Diversity & Humanities Credits

T/TH 2:00-3:15pm
Taught in ENGLISH by Dr. Eileen M. Angelini, 2018 Whichard Distinguished Professor in the Humanities.

This course will examine the impact of the World War II Occupation of France and its continuing role in French cultural and economic forces today. Novels, memoirs, autobiographies, documentaries, feature-length films, and historical readings will form the basis for class discussions. Selected articles from the press will enhance the class discussion on current events in France.

For questions, contact Dr. Angelini at AngeliniE18@ecu.edu.

*No knowledge of French required. No prerequisites. Students receive humanities credit and global diversity credit.
Screenings made available outside of class.
